Dino Merlin

Merlin/Dino Merlin – Dino Dervišhalidović u prvoj polovini osamdesetih okuplja grupu oko sebe, nazovu se Merlin i prvi album Kokuzna vremena urade u rekordno kratkom roku i objave ga početkom jeseni 1985. godine. Pored Dine u grupi su Amir Bjelanović Tula, Džafer Saračević, Mensur Lutkica i Milišić Mili. Ova postava je ostala nepromijenjena na prva četiri albuma grupe.

U jesen 1986. godine pojavio se album Teško meni sa tobom a još teže bez tebe. Omot je bio koncipiran tako da vas je sa naslovne strane gledala čuvena fotografija nepoznate partizanke, a sa poleđine portret Merilin Monro. Lijepo se to uklopilo u naslov albuma, čak i uz ime benda, a Dinu su odmah proglasili rodonačelnikom pokreta "new partisans". Posebno je zanimljiva balada "Uspavanka za Gorana B." posvećena Bregoviću. Krajem 1987. godine rade novi album, a uveliko se govori kako će ga objaviti zagrebački Jugoton. Čak je i predviđen datum izlaska tempiran pred katolički božić i na ploči je i pjesma "Božić je". Ipak, u zadnjem momentu, Dino je sticajem okolnosti bio prisiljen da ostane vjeran Diskotonu i ploča Merlin se pojavljuje početkom 1988. godine. U to vrijeme jedna od najvećih folk zvijezda na ovim prostorima je Vesna Zmijanac. Priča kaže da je imala gotov album kada joj je nakon jednog koncerta puštena pjesma "Kad zamirišu jorgovani". Cijeli projekat je zaustavljen da bi se i ova pjesma ubacila na materijal, a Dinin uslov je bio da je otpjevaju zajedno.

Popularnost pjesme "Kad zamirišu jorgovani" Dino je uspješno kapitalizirao na narednom albumu Nešto lijepo treba da se desi. Pojavio se u proljeće 1989. godine i na njemu su ponovljeni "Jorgovani". Ovoga puta, doduše, u izvedbi samo grupe Merlin. Izdvojile su se i "Mjesečina" (koja je bila samo prepjev tada aktuelnog hita grupe UB 40), "Nešto lijepo treba da se desi", "Jel' Sarajevo gdje je nekad bilo" i posebno "Bosnom behar probeharao". Album Peta strana svijeta stiže krajem 1990. godine. Nazvan je po pjesmi koja na kraju nije uvrštena na album. Sa prvim ratnim danima Dino je pjesmama "Mostarska", "Vojnik sreće", "Sanjao sam", "Da te nije Alija" odgovarao na granate. One su postale soundtrack jednog vremena. Čak tri člana grupe Merlin ginu u ratu. Basista Aleksandar Aćimović, klavijaturista Mustafa Nurak Bugi (koji je u grupu došao umjesto Mensura Lutkice) i menadžer Kemal Bisić. U to vrijeme Dino daje svoje pjesme i drugim izvođačima, a sa njegovom "Sva bol svijeta" Muhamed Fazlagić Fazla prvi put predstavlja Bosnu i Hercegovinu na Pjesmi Evrovizije.

Nastavak pop karijere vezan je uz 1994. godinu i izlazak albuma Moja bogda sna. Album je prvi put potpisan sa "Dino Merlin". To su godine kada Dino boravi van Bosne i Hercegovine i ta izbjeglička iskustva sakupi na narednom albumu Fotografija koji se pojavio početkom 1996. godine. U julu 1998. godine održao je veličanstven koncert u centru Sarajeva kod Vječne vatre i taj nastup zabilježio i na dvostrukom CD-u koji se pojavio početkom 1999 godine. U proljeće 1999. godine putuje kao predstavnik Bosne i Hercegovine na Eurosong u Izrael.

Naredne godine izašao je i album Sredinom koji je bio do tada najzrelije Dinino ostvarenje. Sljedeći album Burek pojavio se početkom ljeta 2004. godine. Album Ispočetka je izašao početkom ljeta 2008. godine a najavio ga je duet u pjesmi "Dabogda" koju je otpjevao sa Harijem Varešanovićem i tako pokušao prekinuti priče o njihovom sukobu. Pune dvije godine ga nije bilo, a onda je po drugi put kao izvođač otišao na Pjesmu Evrovizije. On je 2011. godine predstavljao Bosnu i Hercegovinu sa pjesmom "Love In Rewind" i na kraju bio šesti. Šestogodišnju diskografsku šutnju je prekinuo u junu 2014. godine kada je objavljen album "Hotel Nacional".

Merlin/Dino Merlin –In the first half of the eighties, Dino Dervišhalidović gathered a group of musicians around him. They called themselves Merlin and they released their first album Kokuzna vremena (Broke Times) in record time, releasing it in early autumn 1985. Aside from Dino, the group included Amir Bjelanović Tula, Džafer Saračević, Mensur Lutkica, and Mili Milišić. This lineup remained unchanged on the group's first four albums.

In the autumn of 1986, the album Teško meni sa tobom a još teže bez tebe (It's Hard for Me With You, but Even Harder Without You) appeared. The cover was designed in such a way that the famous photo of an unknown partisan was looking at you from the front, and the portrait of Marilyn Monroe from the back. It fit nicely into the title of the album, even with the name of the band, and Dino was immediately declared the forerunner of the "new partisans" movement. The ballad "Uspavanka za Gorana B." ("Lullaby for Goran B.") is particularly interesting, dedicated to Goran Bregović. At the end of 1987, they made a new album, and it is widely rumoured that it would be released by Zagreb's Jugoton. Even the predicted release date was timed for before Catholic Christmas, and the song "Božić je" ("It's Christmas") is also on the album. However, at the last moment, Dino was forced to remain faithful to Diskoton and the album Merlin appeared in early 1988. At that time, one of the biggest folk stars in the region was Vesna Zmijanac. Rumour had it that she had a finished album when the song "Kad zamirišu jorgovani " ("When they Smell Lilacs") was played for her after a concert. The whole project was halted in order to include this song in the material, and Dino's condition was that they sing it together.

Dino successfully capitalized on the popularity of the song "Kad zamirišu jorgovani" on the next album, "Nešto lijepo treba da se desi" ("Something Beautiful Should Happen"). It was released in the spring of 1989, and "Jorgovani" reappeared on it – this time performed only by the Merlin band. "Mjesečina" ("Moonlight") (which was a cover of the then-current hit of the group UB 40), "Nešto lijepo treba da se desi", "Jel' Sarajevo gdje je nekad bil" ("Is Sarajevo where it Useto Be") and especially "Bosnom behar probeharao" ("The Blossom has Bloomed in Bosnia") stood out. The album Peta strana svijeta (Fifth Side of the World) arrived at the end of 1990. It was named after a song that ended up not being included on the album.

In the beginning of the war, Dino responded to the shells with the songs "Mostarska", " Vojnik sreće" ("Solider of Fortune"), "Sanjao sam" ("I Dreamed"), and "Da te nije Alija" (If it Wasn't for Alija"). They became the soundtrack of that time. As many as three members of Merlin died in the war. – bassist Aleksandar Aćimović, keyboardist Mustafa Nurak Bugi (who joined the group instead of Mensur Lutkica) and manager Kemal Bisić. At that time, Dino also gave his songs to other performers, and with his song "Sva bol svijeta" ("All the Pain of the World"), Muhamed Fazlagić Fazla represented Bosnia and Herzegovina for the first time at the Eurovision Song Contest.

The continuation of his pop career is connected to the year 1994 and the release of the album Moja bogda sna (My Small Piece of a Dream). The album was signed as Dino Merlin for the first time. Those are the years when Dino was outside of Bosnia and Herzegovina, collecting refugee experiences for the next album Fotografija, which appeared at the beginning of 1996. In July 1998, he held a magnificent concert in the centre of Sarajevo near the Eternal Flame, recording that performance on a double CD that was released in early 1999. In the spring of 1999, he travelled to Israel as a representative of Bosnia and Herzegovina at the Eurovision Song Contest.

The following year, the album Sredinom (In the Middle) was released, which was Dino's most mature work to date. The next album Burek appeared at the beginning of the summer of 2004. The album Ispočetka (From the Beginning) was released at the beginning of the summer of 2008, and it included a duet in the song "Dabogda", which he sang with Hari Varešanović thus trying to end rumours that they did not get along. He was then gone for two years, and then he went to the Eurovision Song Contest for the second time. In 2011, he represented Bosnia and Herzegovina with the song "Love In Rewind" and ended up sixth. He broke his six-year recording silence in June 2014 when the album Hotel Nacional was released.
