Pop rock ...

Mjesečari

Mjesečari – Grupu je krajem osamdesetih godina prošlog vijeka oformio Omar Mehmedbašić. Uz njega su bili Senad Tanović, Nebojša Šenk, Almir Mešković i Dejan Kavalec. Javljaju se kao protuteža tada vladajućem trendu ”narodnjačkog rocka” i njihov prvi album One šetaju od 1 do 2 (1988.) predstavlja dah svježine na sceni. U pjesmi ”Gdje izlaziš ovih dana” na gitari je gostovao Goran Bregović.

Odlazak brojnih estradnih velikana početkom rata u izbjeglištvo ostavlja sarajevsku scenu gotovo obezglavljenu. U takvoj situaciji Mjesečari sve više sviraju i nekoliko godina za redom bivaju proglašeni grupom godine u Bosni i Hercegovini. Njihove pjesme tada odišu ratnom tematikom, ali opet bez narodnjački epskog zanosa, sa dosta duha progovaraju o životu u opkoljenom gradu. Tada nastaju ”Mogla si bar paket poslati”, ”Tunel”, ”Ona radi u butiku kod Ćeske”. Tada je nastala i jedna od najljepših i najdirljivijih pjesama posvećenih poginulim prijateljima, pjesma ”Nebom stupa moja generacija”. Tokom rata oni koriste neke stare pjesme, neke pripremljene za drugi album, neke nastale u ratu i 1994. godine pojavljuje se album Mogla si bar paket poslati.

Po sličnom principu koncipira se i njihov prvi poratni album Negdje između sa provokativnim omotom. Početkom 1997. godine aktuelna je pjesma ”Amnestija” koja govori o povratku ljudi koji su napustili Sarajevo tokom ratnih godina i o njihovom povlaštenom položaju u odnosu na branitelje. Amnestija se zove i njihov album koji se pojavio te 1997. godine.

Rad na angažovanim pjesmama pomalo Mjesečare udaljava od glavnih komercijalnih tokova. Tada je Omar radio na ozvučavanju koncerata folk zvijezda pa je rešio da obradi pjesmu koju je svojevremeno snimio Omer Livnjak, prearanžirao je i dobili smo pjesmu ”Turbo Amela”. Tokom cijele 1998. godine ona je bila jedan od najvećih hitova Bosne i Hercegovine. Pokušali su sličan recept primjeniti i kod pjesme Muharema Serbezovskog ”Bilo čija”, ali je aranžman bio previše alternativan za uho prosječnog slušaoca. Zato je sljedeći pokušaj sa ”Sve je postalo pepeo i dim” Sinana Sakića koju su Mjesečari nazvali ”Ober turbo” postignut puni pogodak. Omar je uradio muzičku temu za popularnu crtanu seriju ”Mumijevi”, a i neke obične ljubavne pjesme kao što je ”Ne gledaj me tako”. Sve to uz neke stare pjesme objavio na albumu Dupljak (2000.). To je bilo posljednje zvanično izdanje Mjesečara.

Regina

Regina – Sarajevska tinejdžerska atrakcija sa početka devedesetih. A Reginu su sačinjvali Milijaš Bojan i Boris, Bojan Miličević, Goran Lučić i dva ključna čovjeka pjevač Davor Ebner i gitarista i autor svih pjesama Aleksandar Čović. Ebner je još odranije bio poznat po radu sa grupom Konvoj.

Prvi album Regina izašao je u ranu jesen 1990 godine. Naredni album Ljubav nije za nas pojavljuje se 1991. godine i potvrđuje njihov i kvalitet i popularnost. Naslovna pjesma postaje jedan od njihovih najvećih hitova, a obradili su i pjesmu ”Izgledala je malo čudno u kaputu žutom krojenom bez veze” Bijelog dugmeta. Zanimljivo je da su prvobitno imali namjeru da obrade pjesmu ”Tako ti je mala moja kad ljubi Bosanac”, a onda su odustali od toga procijenivši kako je ta pjesma suviše poznata.

Početkom rata Ebner seli u Hrvatsku, a Čović odlazi za Beograd, gdje ponovo formira Reginu i sam počinje da pjeva. Već krajem 1992. godine objavio je album Grade moj – Sarajevo '92 na kojem nastupa sa posve novom ekipom u kojoj su Zoran Antonijević, Vlada Čanak i Dejan Lisjak. Već naredne godine u grupu se vraćaju Bojan Miličević i Boris Milijaš i u tom sastavu uz Zorana Jaminu snimili su i 1993. godine album Jedino ono što imam da dam. I Ebner, koji je u međuvremenu otišao u Njemačku, obnavlja svoju verziju Regine i 1995. objavljuju album Pogledaj u nebo. U toj postavi uz Ebnera su svirali Siniša Bogdanović Cile, Denis Čabrić i Amir Husak Spajdi. Da bi se razlikovali od Čovićeve Regine na omotu je pisalo Regina – Made in Sarajevo.

Čović u međuvremenu sa svojom ekipom u kojoj više nije bilo Vitasa i umjesto koga je zasvirao Goran Kalajdžić nastavlja da objavljuje albume. Tako 1996 .godine izlazi album Ja nisam kao drugi. Zatim objavljuju još jedan prosječan album pod nazivom Kada zatvorim oči. Kao Aco Regina objavio je album Koraci 2004. godine. U međuvremenu 2001. godine Ebner kao solista učestvuje na izboru bosanskohercegovačkog predstavnika za Pjesmu Evrovizije. Pjesmu mu je producirao Nurudin Vatrenjak iz grupe Punkt i tu počinje njihova saradnja. U drugoj polovini 2001. godine Ebner dolazi u Punkt i sa njima je snimio album njihovih najvećih hitova i studijski album Mjesto za nas. Pod vlastitim imenom 2005. godine objavio je album Kako voljeti. Krajem 2005. godine počinju prvi pregovori o obnavljanju sastava. Iz originalne postave priključuje im se Bojan Miličević, a u ekipu dolazi i Denis Čabrić sa kojim je Ebner sarađivao na albumu Pogledaj u nebo. Uslijedio je i novi album Sve mogu ja.

Bosnu i Hercegovinu su na Pjesmi Evrovizije 2009 u Moskvi predstavljali sa pjesmom ”Bistra voda”. Album Vrijeme je izašao je u maju 2009. godine. Album Kad poludimo objavili su 2012. godine. Denis Čabrić je iznenada preminuo 17.8.2016. godine. Naredne godine objavili su album U srcu.

Bambinosi

Bambinosi – Pop grupa iz Sarajeva koja se sa zakašnjenjem pokušala uključiti u ”novi primitivizam”. Objavili su dva albuma. Kroz grupu su prošli Đorđe Kapor (vokal), Zlatan Demirović (gitare), Alen Mustafić (vokal), Haris Đinić (bubnjevi) i Haris Kapetanović (bas gitara).

Detektor laži

Detektor laži – Nakon avantura sa grupama Vatreni poljubac i Carski rez basista Šefćet Hodža je 1986.godine osnovao grupu Detektor laži. U grupu je iz Teške industrije došao pjevač Narcis Lalić, bubnjar Dragan Nikačević iz Rezonanse, te manje poznati Goran Stamenovski i Pinjo Deneb. Na albumu su, kao članovi grupe, svirali i Amir Bešo i Haris Džinić. Album je na sebi čak nosio i jedan hit, pjesmu ”Student psihologije”.

Gorki šećer

Gorki šećer – Sarajevska grupa koju je formirao Goran Drašković. Gitarista grupe bio je Stikić Siniša, bas gitarista Aleksandar Aćimović, a bubnjar Zagić Siniša Sejo. Objavili su dva albuma.

Radio

Radio (Banja Luka) – Svojevremeno su slovili kao jedna od najperspektivnijih grupa iz Banja Luke. Snimili su album Konje ubijaju, zar ne. Sa tog albuma ostale su upamćene pjesme ”Mačka”, ”Australija” i ”Večeras”. Dio postave kasnije je radio sa grupom Nemoguće vruće, a pjevač Miro Janjanin oformio je grupu Viteški ples.

Boja ruže

Boja ruže – Grupa je oformljena krajem osamdesetih kao pokušaj da se napravi nešto što bi moglo poslužiti kao putokaz u kom pravcu da ide smjena generacija na domaćoj sceni. Glavna autorska snaga na albumu bio je Zdravko Đurić i on je autor svih pjesama. Pored njega u grupi su bili još Miki Čurt, Sebastijan Petrović, Srećko Draksler i Omer Raković. Raković je kasnije nastavio sa grupom Modra rijeka i solo karijerom, a bio je dosta tražen kao basista za studijska snimanja i turneje. Objavili su jedan album pod nazivom Svjetlo u podrumu duše.

Zerina Cokoja

Zerina Cokoja (Konjic) first started appearing in a variety of beauty contests as a student and was very successful. When she decided to get involved in music, her first choice was folk music, and in the second half of the 80s she recorded the folk music album titled Kocka je bačena (The die is cast). After that, she turned to pop music and recorded three albums.

Mjesečari – This group (Sleepwalkers) was formed at the end of the eighties of the last century by Omar Mehmedbašić. He was joined by Senad Tanović, Nebojša Šenk, Almir Mešković, and Dejan Kavalec. They appear as a counterweight to the prevailing trend of "folk rock" at the time, and their first album One šetaju od 1 do 2 (They Walk from 1 to 2) (1988) represents a breath of fresh air on the scene. Goran Bregović made a guest appearance on the guitar in the song "Gdje izlaziš ovih dana" (”Where are you doing out these days”).

The departure of numerous pop stars into exile at the beginning of the war left the Sarajevo scene almost decapitated. In such a situation, Mjesečari played more and more, and for several years in a row, they were declared the group of the year in Bosnia and Herzegovina. Their songs exuded a war theme, but again without epic folk enthusiasm. Instead, they talked purposefully about life in a besieged city. That's when "Mogla si bar paket poslati" (”You Could at least Have Sent a Package”), "Tunel", "Ona radi u butiku kod Ćeske" (”She Works in a Boutique near Ćeske") saw the light of day. It was then that one of the most beautiful and moving songs dedicated to fallen friends was written, the song "Nebom stupa moja generacija" (”My Generation is Stepping through the Sky”). During the war, they used some old songs, some prepared for the second album, and some created during the war, and in 1994, the album Mogla si bar paket poslati emerged.

Their first post-war album Negdje između (Somewhere in Between) with a provocative cover was based on similar principles. At the beginning of 1997, the song "Amnestija" (”Amnesty”) was rather current, talking about the return of people who left Sarajevo during the war years and about their privileged position compared to the veterans. Amnestija is also the name of their album released in 1997.

To a certain extent, working on socially engaged songs moved Mjesečari away from mainstream commercial trends. At that time, Omar was working as a sound technician at folk stars' concerts, so he decided to cover a song that Omer Livnjak once recorded, rearranging it and finally producing the song "Turbo Amela". Throughout 1998, it was one of the biggest hits in Bosnia and Herzegovina. They tried to apply a similar recipe to Muharem Serbezovski's song "Bilo čija" (”Anyone's”), but the arrangement was too alternative for the ear of the average listener. That's why the next attempt with Sinan Sakić's "Sve je postalo pepeo i dim", (”All that's Left Is Ash and Smoke”) which Mjesečari called "Ober turbo", hit the spot. Omar did the theme music for the popular cartoon series "Mumijevi", as well as some simple love songs such as "Ne gledaj me tako" (”Don't Look at Me Like That”). He released all of this alongside some old songs on the album Dupljak (2000). That was the last official work from Mjesečari.

Regina – Sarajevo teenage sensation from the beginning of the nineties. Regina was made up of Bojan and Boris Milijaš, Bojan Miličević, Goran Lučić, and two key people, singer Davor Ebner and the guitarist and author of all their songs Aleksandar Čović. Ebner was already known for his earlier work with the group Konvoj.

The first album Regina was released in the early autumn of 1990. The next album Ljubav nije za nas (Love is not for Us) was released in 1991 and reiterated their quality and popularity. The title track became one of their greatest hits, and they also covered the song ”Izgledala je malo čudno u kaputu žutom krojenom bez veze” (”She Looked a Little Strange in a Poorly Tailored Coat”) by Bijelo Dugme. It is interesting to note that they originally intended to cover the song "Tako ti je mala moja kad ljubi Bosanac" (”That's What it's Like when you Kiss a Bosnian”), but then they gave up the idea, judging that the song was too famous.

At the beginning of the war, Ebner moved to Croatia and Čović moved to Belgrade where he re-formed Regina and started singing himself. By the end of 1992, he released the album Grade moj - Sarajevo '92 (My City – Sarajevo 92), on which he performed with a completely new team, including Zoran Antonijević, Vlada Čanak and Dejan Lisjak. In the following year, Bojan Miličević and Boris Milijaš returned to the group, and together with Zoran Jamina, they recorded the album Jedino ono što imam da dam (The Only Thing I Have to Give) in 1993. Ebner, who in the meantime left for Germany, revived his version of Regina and in 1995 released the album Pogledaj u nebo (Look at the Sky). In that lineup, Siniša Bogdanović Cile, Denis Čabrić, and Amir Husak Spajdi played alongside Ebner. In order to distinguish themselves from Čović's Regina, the cover read Regina – Made in Sarajevo.

In the meantime, Čović with his tea (Vitas had left, and was replaced by Goran Kalajdžić) continued to release albums. Thus, in 1996, the album Ja nisam kao drugi (I'm Not Like the Others) was released. Subsequently, they releaseed another mediocre album called Kada zatvorim oči (When I Close My Eyes). Under the moniker Aco Regina, he released the album Koraci (Steps) in 2004. In 2001, Ebner participated as a solo artist in the selection of Bosnia and Herzegovina's representative for the Eurovision Song Contest. His song was produced by Nurudin Vatrenjak from the group Punkt and this is where their collaboration begins. In the second half of 2001, Ebner joined Punkt and together they recorded an album of their greatest hits and a studio album Mjesto za nas (Space for Us). In 2005, he released the album Kako voljeti (How to Love) under his own name. At the end of 2005, the first negotiations on renewing the band began. Bojan Miličević from the original lineup is there, and Denis Čabrić joined the team, with whom Ebner collaborated on the album Pogledaj u nebo. The new album Sve mogu ja (I Can Do It All) followed.

They represented Bosnia and Herzegovina at the "Eurovision Song Contest 2009" in Moscow with the song "Bistra voda" (”Clear Water”). The album Vrijeme je (It's Time) was released in May 2009. They released the album Kad poludimo (When We Get Crazy) in 2012. Denis Čabrić died suddenly on August 17, 2016. The following year, they released the album U srcu (In the Heart).

Bambinosi (Kids, in Italian) was a pop band from Sarajevo that belatedly tried to join the ”new primitivism” movement. They released two albums. Đorđe Kapor (vocals), Zlatan Demirović (guitar), Alen Mustafić (vocals), Haris Đinić (drums) and Haris Kapetanović (bass) took turns in the band.

Detektor laži (The Lie Detector) – Following his adventures with the bands Vatreni poljubac (Fiery Kiss) and Carski rez (The Caesarians), bassist Šefćet Hodža formed the band Detektor laži (The Lie Detector) in 1986. Singer Narcis Lalić, drummer Dragan Nikačević (from Rezonansa) and the lesser known Goran Stamenovski and Pinjo Deneb joined the band as well. Amir Bešo and Haris Džinić also performed on the album, which included the hit song ”Student psihologije” (”Psychology Student)”.

Gorki šećer (Bitter Sugar) was a Sarajevo band formed by Goran Drašković. The guitarist was Siniša Stikić, the bassist Aleksandar Aćimović, and the drummer was Siniša Sejo Zagić. They released two albums.

Radio (Banja Luka band) – At the time, Radio was one of the most promising bands from Banja Luka. They recorded the album Konje ubijaju, zar ne? (They Kill Horses, Don't They?). Memorable songs from that album were ”Mačka” (”The Cat),” ”Australija” (”Australia),” and ”Večeras” (”Tonight”). Part of the band's line-up later worked with the band Nemoguće vruće (Impossibly Hot), while singer Miro Janjanin formed the band Viteški ples (The Knight's Dance).

Boja ruže (The color of a rose) was formed at the end of the 80s as an attempt to create something that could serve as a guide to the new direction of the generational change of the domestic scene. The sole songwriter of the album was Zdravko Đurić. The band also included Miki Čurt, Sebastijan Petrović, Srećko Draksler, and Omer Raković. Raković later continued with the band Modra Rijeka (Blue River), and then had a solo career. He remained in great demand as a bassist for studio recordings and tours. They released one album, titled Svjetlo u podrumu duše (Light in the cellar of the soul).

Zerina Cokoja (Konjic) first started appearing in a variety of beauty contests as a student and was very successful. When she decided to get involved in music, her first choice was folk music, and in the second half of the 80s she recorded the folk music album titled Kocka je bačena (The die is cast). After that, she turned to pop music and recorded three albums.