Cigla

Pod utjecajem 9 godina starijeg brata Hamdije i inspirirani prvim albumom Elvisa J. Kurtovicha i koncertom Zabranjenog pušenja na Obali, grupu Cigla osnovali su jedanaestogodišji blizanci Sead i Nihad Kreševljaković s Vlastimirom Sudarom i Aleksandrom Kuićem. Na koncertu ispred Steleksa 1987. godine nastupili su sa bendovima koji su im bili uzori, Gušinim Uzalud kajanje i Hemonovim Strajderom. Braća Kreševljaković tada su imala 14 godina, a bubnjar im je bio gitarist grupe Scabia Amir Hadžiahmetović. Tada su prvi i posljednji put izveli svoj punk hit „Agrokomerc is not Dead, Agrokomerc is not Bad". Posljednji koncert imali su u CDA 1987. godine sa bratom Hamdijom. Nihad je nastavio sa grupom ŽWAYZ koja je snimila desetak demo snimaka ali nikada nije održala niti jedan koncert. Dinar Dinar je banjalučki novoprimitivni sastav nastao 1980. godine koji se isticao kreativnošću i originalnošću. Edin Tahirović, vokal, Saša Obradović, gitara, Zlatko Prpa, bas i Zoran Milosavac, bubnjevi, stekli su širu jugoslovensku popularnost hitom „Bahra" snimljenim 1983. godine koji i danas zvuči poletno i svježe. Kroz bend su prošli brojni glazbenici - Adem Kobašlić, Almir Smajić Smax, Samir Teskeredžić, Emir Tahirović, Zoran Todorović, Zlatko Bašić, Boris Relja i Dragan Tabaković. Album Kad Dinar dodje na vlast snimljen je 1984. a objavljen 1985. godine. Tih se godina Dinar ustoličio kao predgrupa Bijelog dugmeta, popularnost je rasla i dostigla do samostalnih koncerata, ali je zatim došlo do raspada benda. Zapravo, Edin Tahirović je jedini radio na pripremi materijala za drugi album Priroda i društvo dok su se ostali članovi reorganizirali u sastav Žigolo. Dinar se ponovno okuplja u originalnom sastavu 1988., a 1989. godine objavljuje treći album Do zadnjeg dinara da bi se ubrzo ponovo razišao. Nakon rata je snimljen četvrti album Drugovi gdje ste vi. Smrću Edina Tahirovića 2015. godine, Dinar više nikad neće biti isti bend.

Tokom prve dvije godine rata D.thronE je imao pauzu u radu, a period reaktivacije, bit će obuhvaćen u nekoj od narednih izložbi Ex Yu Rock Centra.

Under the influence of the 9-year-older brother Hamdija and inspired by Elvis J. Kurtovich's first album and the Zabranjeno Pušenje concert on Sarajevo's Obala, the group Cigla was founded by the twins Sead and Nihad Kreševljaković at the age of eleven with Vlastimir Sudar and Aleksandar Kuić. They worked from 1986 to 1987 and demo recordings of their songs "Priča o crvenoj kapici" (Vladimir Majakovski), "Plač" (H. Kreševljaković), "Ko je onaj čovjek?" (H. Kreševljaković) were indispensable on the legendary demo top list of the RTVSA Omladinski program. At the concert in front of Steleks in 1987, they played with bands that were their role models, Guša's Uzalud Kajanje and Hemon's Strajder. The Kreševljaković brothers were 14 years old at the time, and their drummer was Scabia guitarist Amir Hadžiahmetović. That was the first and last time they performed their punk hit "Agrokomerc is not Dead, Agrokomerc is not Bad". They played their last concert at CDA in 1987 with their brother Hamdija. Nihad continued alone with his group ŽWAYZ which recorded a dozen demos, but never held a single concert. Sead published the fanzine Crash with Arsen Novalija, and, together with Nihad, he released a cassette compilation Paved with Skulls which included demos of the group Demonstracija (Arsen Novalija), Stahelldraht (Jons Vukorep), Žwajz (Nihad) and Flash.

Dah Ljetne Noći (Breath of a Summer Night) worked alongside Visa during 1988 and 1989. The group even played a few of the same original songs (such as "Tell me"). The members, in addition to Željko Škarić Pancho, were Enis Maltez (drums), Emir Balić (bass), Dubravko Cuculić (guitar and vocals) and Predrag Vasić (guitar and vocals). The boys were noticed at the festival "Nove Nade, Nove Snage" with the song "Coca Cola Kid", where they won the award for the best stage performance in the final. They appeared dressed in black suits, white shirts and played catchy guitar pop rock.

Dinar was a New Primitives band from Banja Luka created in 1980 which stood out for its creativity and originality. Edin Tahirović (vocals), Saša Obradović (guitar), Zlatko Prpa (bass) and Zoran Milosavac (drums) gained wider Yugoslav popularity with the hit "Bahra" recorded in 1983, which still sounds energetic and fresh. Many musicians have passed through the band – Adem Kobašlić, Almir Smajić Smax, Samir Teskeredžić, Emir Tahirović, Zoran Todorović, Zlatko Bašić, Boris Relja and Dragan Tabaković. The album Kad Dinar dođe na vlast (When Dinar Comes to Power) was recorded in 1984 and released in 1985. In those years, Dinar was a regular supporting group for Bijelo Dugme and its popularity grew and reached the point of having its own concerts. However, the band soon broke up. In fact, Edin Tahirović was the only one working on the preparation of the material for the second album Priroda i društvo (Nature and Society), while the other members reorganized into the band Žigolo (Gigolo). Dinar reunited with its original line-up in 1988 and in 1989 released its third album Do zadnjeg dinara (To the Last Dinar), only to soon break up again. The fourth album, Drugovi gdje ste vi (Compadres, where are you?), was recorded after the war. After the death of Edin Tahirović in 2015, Dinar will never be the same band again.

Nermin Šaran, along with playing drums, very quickly took over the vocals and the group performed with him as the lead singer at the last edition of the festival "Nove Nade, Nove Snage" in 1991. During the years that followed, many musicians from Zenica played with Disidenti (Samra Fetahagić-Gladan, Dario Maksimović-Maksa, Admir Ključanin-Ziki, Fikret Didović-Fix, Davor Spasojević-Spaso, Mladen Ivičević-Mlaz, Josip Lukačević) and some from Sarajevo (Željko Škarić Pancho).

The author of the music for all songs was Mustafa Huseljić Musa, while all lyrics were written by Rusmir Agačević Rus and the arrangements were made by Nikša Bratoš. They recorded an album in 1981, and the remix was done three decades later, when the album was released.

Dr. Kontradicio was a hardcore punk band from Sarajevo, active from 1983 to 1986. The first line-up consisted of Muhamed Muki Trnka (guitar), Miroslav Vilić (drums), Mensud Beganović (vocals and Nihad Karaica (bass). Over time, the original bass player was replaced by Samir Omerbegović and then by Alen Ekmečić, who left the band Labud. After the breakup of Dr Kontradicio, Muki moved to the band Alexander Fellows where Samir Omerbegović already played.

The trash metal band from Sarajevo, D.thronE, was formed by drummer Senad Marava (ex Bombarder) and guitarist Meldin Hota (ex Parasite and Mortus). The first line-up also included Aris Slipac (vocals and bass, ex Parasite) and Haris Čizmić (guitar). In September 1991, they recorded the first three demos "Sonnet XXIX", "Complex Pain" and "Act of Betrayal". At the beginning of the band's existence, Aris and Meldin were still performing with Parasite and Meldin was also with the band Mortus. During the first two years of the war, D.thronE was not active, and the period of reactivation will be covered in future exhibitions of the Ex-Yu Rock Centar.
