Demo scena 1980-1992. U-Ž

Uzalud kajanje

Sredinom osamdesetih godina bio je aktivan post-punk sastav Nebojše Gušića Uzalud kajanje. Na YouTube je postojao video zapis sa skupne svirke iz Sloge iz maja 1985. godine, ali se tamo više ne nalazi tako da nema dostupnog svjedočanstva o aktivnosi ovog benda.

Valter

Alter-grupu Valter osnovali su gitarist/pjevač Zlatan Hadžić i basist Hamdija Kreševljaković (ex Tiran Bar, Neshvill). Treći član je bio pjevač Muharem Vojniković Muha kojega je, nakon što je osnovao vlastiti bend, navodno zamijenio Hadžija Alić, a zapravo je uglavnom pjevao Zlaja. Suprotno vjerovanju da je bend dobio ime po povijesnom junaku Vladimiru Periću Valteru, osnivači vele da je imenu kumovala marka pištolja. Zvuk benda je bio na tragu ranog U2 sa pankerskim primjesama. Osim nekoliko TV nastupa iza ovog sastava nije ostalo gotovo ništa osim činjenice da je Zlaja, osvjedočeni ljubitelj noisea koji je tokom rata odselio u Amsterdam, postao hvaljen i tražen producent alternativne muzike.

Velika porodica

Zlatan Sarić (solo&ritam gitara i prateći glas) i Dragan Sudžum (solo gitara) 1978. godine osnivaju bend kojem se 1980. godine pridružuju ostali članovi i nazivaju ga Velika porodica. Pored njih, prvu postavu su činili Sretko Vujić (pjevač), Goran Kokotović – Koka (bas gitara), Darko Praljak (bubnjevi) i Željko Vujić (klavijature). Bend je svirao vlastite autorske kompozicije na samostalnim svirkama u Cedusu, Slozi, Domu Kulture Vaso Pelagić, Hrasno i nastupao kao predgrupa grupama Indexi, Film, Plavi Orkestar u Domu Mladih Skenderija i Slozi. Band je napravio nekoliko studijskih snimaka, ali se nažalost raspao bez značajnijeg šireg uspjeha. U bendu Velika Porodica su svirali mnogi muzičari (Senad Šenderović, Dino Olovčić), a neki članovi benda su kasnije bili članovi Ex-Yu poznatih bendova (Zlatan Čehić - Divlje Jagode, Sretko Vujić - Teška Industrija), te ličnosti iz svijeta TV serijala (Darko Ostojić i Dado Džihan - Top lista nadrealista).

Viktorija

Zoran Đurić formirao je u Banjaluci sredinom osamdesetih godina pop rock grupu Viktorija. Ovaj sastav pobijedio je na Banjalučkoj gitarijadi 1986., a zatim je sudjelovao na festivalu „Nove nade nove snage" u Sarajevu, te na Zaječarskoj gitarijadi gdje je osvojio drugo mjesto. Zoka je danas promoter koji organizira Banjalučku gitarijadu.

Visa

Visa je bio bend gitariste Željka Škarića Pancha aktivan krajem osamdesetih godina – tačnije, od 1986. do 1989. godine. Pjevao je Igor Žerajić (kasnije prešao u Crno vino, a zatim odselio u Veliku Britaniju), klavijature je svirao Vanja Pilipović (kasnije u grupi Divlji kesten), bubnjao je Nedeljko Santrač (odavno u Nizozemskoj), a bas je svirao Ognjen Popić. Osim demo snimaka pjesama, među kojima su se najduže pamtile Ostani tu i Jesen, ono po čemu pamtimo ovaj bend su brojni nastupi u CDA kada su svirali kao predgrupa afirmiranijim sastavima iz cijele Jugoslavije. Svirali su gitarski pop rock sa lijepim, melodičnim gitarskim solažama i sjajnim bas dionicama, a u CDA su bili gotovo kućni bend.

Vrele usne

Duo Vrele usne koji je postojao u drugoj polovici osamdesetih činile su Lejla Trto i Amila Čengić (kasnije Glamočak). Dame su izvrsno pjevale prateće vokale, a poznate su po suradnji sa grupama Valentino i Đino banana.

White Riot

Grupa White Riot nastala je 1987. u sastavu Dragomir Križić Križa i Jules (iz grupe The Borrer), te Resul Alibegović Res i Senči (iz grupe Bruders Schweigen). Križa nakon nekog vremena napušta bend, a pridružuje im se Terza na solo gitari. Poveznica im je bila Oi muzika i Skinhead pokret, kojeg do tada nije bilo u Sarajevu. Svirali su obrade Sex Pistols, Nabat, The Blitz, The Exploited i vlastite pjesme sa kojima su u maju 1988. nastupili u CDA i Prvoj gimnaziji. Uz podršku National Fronta iz Engleske i RAC (Rock Against Communism) pozvani su na kompilaciju i vikend koncert koji se održavao sredinom jula '88. u Brestu (Francuska). Koncerte su pratili incidenti, hapšenja, oduzimanje audio materijala i zabrana rada grupe zbog antidržavnog djelovanja.

Žaoka

Grupa Žaoka (ranije Znak sreće) srednjoškolski je bend Dražena Ričla (gitara), Gorana Petranovića (vokal), Nedima Dedića Fiće (bas) i Radomira Gavrilovića Hareta (bubnjevi) koji je formiran 1979. a trajao je do 1982. Dobrim živim nastupima grupa se uspjela izboriti za favoritski status među lokalnim bendovima koji su tih godina često svirali u Slozi, pa je transfer većine članova u novoformirani bend Elvis J. Kurtovich and His Meteors bio pomalo neočekivan.

Žive legende

Novotravnička pop rock grupa Žive legende postojala je koncem osamdesetih godina pod vođstvom Zlatka Senkića. Pored Zlaje, koji je bio autor svih tekstova i muzike, u grupi su bili Zvezdan Popović Zeki, Dragoslav Đukić Đuka i Sead Kopčić Sejo. Snimili su album Dajte nam ples kod Brane Likića u Blap studiju, a objavio ga je Sarajevodisk. Na TVSa urađena su tri spota za pjesme sa ovog albuma.

In the mid-1980s, Nebojsa Gušić's post-punk band Uzalud kajanje (Remorse in Vain) was active. There is no available testimony about the activity of this band.

The alternative band Valter was founded by guitarist/singer Zlatan Hadžić and bassist Hamdija Kreševljaković (ex Tiran Bar, Nashville). Singer Muharem Vojniković Muha was the third member. After he founded his own band, he was allegedly replaced by Hadžija Alić, but in fact Zlaja mostly sang. Contrary to the belief that the band was named after the historical hero Vladimir Perić Valter, the founders claimed that the German Walther brand of a pistol inspired the name. The band's sound was in the footsteps of early U2, with punk elements. Apart from a few TV appearances, there is almost nothing left behind except for the fact that Zlaja, a confirmed noise lover who moved to Amsterdam during the war, became a praised and sought-after producer of alternative music.

Zlatan Sarić (solo & rhythm guitar and backing vocals) and Dragan Sužum (solo guitar) founded a band in 1978, which was joined by other members in 1980 and called Velika Porodica (Big Family). The first lineup also consisted of Sretko Vujić (singer), Goran Kokotović – Koka (bass guitar), Darko Praljak (drums) and Željko Vujić (keyboards). The band played their own original compositions at concerts in Cedus, Sloga, Dom Kulture Vaso Pelagić, Hrasno and performed as a supporting band for Indexi, Film, Plavi Orkestar (Blue Orchestra) at Dom Mladih and Sloga. The band made several studio recordings but unfortunately disbanded without significant wider success. Many musicians played in the band Velika Porodica (including Senad Šenderović and Dino Olovčić). Some members of the band were later members of famous Ex-Yu bands (Zlatan Čehić – Divlje Jagode, Sretko Vujić – Teška Industrija), and characters from TV series (Darko Ostojić and Dado Džihan – Top Lista Nadrealista).

Zoran Đurić formed the pop rock group Viktorija in Banja Luka in the mid-eighties. This band won the Banja Luka guitar festival in 1986, and then participated in the festival "Nove Nade, Nove Snage" in Sarajevo and the Zaječar guitar festival, where they won second place. Today, Zoka is a promoter who organizes the Banja Luka guitar festival.

Visa was guitarist Željko Škarić Pancho's band and was active from 1986 to 1989. Igor Žerajić sang (later moved to Crno Vino [Red Wine] then moved to the UK), Vanja Pilipović played keyboards (later in the group Divlji kesten [Wild Chestnuts]), Nedeljko Santrač (long ago in the Netherlands) played drums and Ognjen Popić played bass. Apart from the demo recordings of the songs, among which "Ostani tu" ("Stay Here") and "Jesen" ("Autumn") were the most memorable, what we remember this band for are the numerous performances in CDA when they played as an opening act for more established bands from all over Yugoslavia. They played guitar pop rock with beautiful, melodic guitar solos and great basslines, and they were almost the house band at CDA.

The Vrele Usne (Hot Lips) duo that existed in the second half of the eighties consisted of Lejla Trto and Amila Čengić (later Glamočak). The ladies sang excellent backing vocals and are known for their collaboration with groups Valentino and Đino Banana.

The group White Riot was founded in 1987 by Dragomir Križić Križa and Jules (from the group The Borrer) and Resul Alibegović Res and Senči (from the group Bruders Schweigen). Križa left the band after some time and Terza joined on solo guitar. They were connected by Oi music and the Skinhead movement, which did not exist in Sarajevo until then. They played covers of the Sex Pistols, Nabat, The Blitz, The Exploited and their own songs with which they performed in May 1988 at the CDA and Prva gimnazija. With the support of the National Front from England and RAC (Rock Against Communism), they were invited to a compilation and weekend concert that took place in mid-July 1988 in Brest (France). The concerts were followed by incidents, arrests, confiscation of audio material and banning of the group's work due to anti-state activities.

Grupa Žaoka (formerly Znak sreće – Sign of Luck) was a high school band of Dražen Ričl (guitar), Goran Petranović (vocals), Nedim Dedić Fićo (bass), and Radomir Gavrilović Hare (drums). It was formed in 1979 and lasted until 1982. The group's solid live performances earned the status of a favorite among local bands that often played in Sloga in those years, so the transfer of most of the members to the newly formed band Elvis J. Kurtovich and His Meteors was somewhat unexpected.

The pop rock group Žive legende (Living Legends) from Novi Travnik existed in the late 1980s under the leadership of Zlatko Senkić. In addition to Zlaja, who was the author of all the lyrics and music, the group included Zvezdan Popović Zeki, Dragoslav Đukic Đuka and Sead Kopčić Sejo. They recorded the album "Dajte nam ples" ("Give Us a Dance") at Brano Likić's BLAP studio and it was published by Sarajevo Disk. TV SA recorded three videos for songs from this album.
